Enter the international world of trading food and flowers

In the world of international food and flowers, the Dutch agro-food system is famous. The Netherlands is entrepreneurial, innovative and leading in sustainability. It is the second-largest exporter of food and flower products in the world. International knowledge and experience are key concepts of this study programme.

Do you have international ambitions? Are you interested in marketing and trade? If you can picture yourself working in the bustling economic area of food and flowers, full of intense exchanges, loud negotiations and on-the-spot decision-making, then this study programme is the right choice for you! The programme blends courses in business, management, finance and marketing with specific knowledge of the food and flower sector. You learn how to manage a business, projects and acquire the essential knowledge of food and flower products, in an international classroom and in the professional field, both nationally and internationally. You will be leading innovations, such as sustainability in this field of the international economy.

Studying in Holland

Holland is well known for being open-minded, tolerant and internationally oriented. Study and living costs are affordable and the quality of Dutch institutions is well recognised. Off campus, you can explore the picturesque nature areas that surround our site in Velp on foot or by bike. Throughout the year, there are free festivals, markets and concerts where you can hang out with your friends and meet the locals. Amsterdam, The Hague, Berlin and Paris are only a short train journey away.

"From day one, I learned about complete production processes and supply chains, from start to finish. Very interesting!"

Nynke Schaafsma, graduate
